What is Question 6?

Question 6, the Nevada Reproductive Rights Amendment, is an extreme pro-abortion measure on the ballot this election season.

If passed, the measure would:

- Allow late term abortions, including up to birth and for any reason.
- Create a broad "right to abortion" that would override existing protections for unborn children.
- Remove parental involvement, allowing minors to obtain abortions without a parent or guardian knowing.
- Make it easier for abuse to go undetected, by removing adult oversight and medical safeguards.
- Limit the state's ability to set health and safety standards for abortion facilities.
- Give abortionists wide discretion, allowing those who profit from abortion to decide when it is "necessary."

Question 6 is too extreme for Nevada. It would endanger women, strip parents of their rights, and permit abortion with little oversight, even late in pregnancy.
